The science of sitting[®]

ergoCentric®

ergoCentric, grounded in the philosophy of The Science of Sitting® since 1990, specializes in creating ergonomic seating and workspace solutions.

Our focus is on designing products that promote health and productivity by ensuring proper support and comfort for individuals as they work. With our exclusive patented modular technology, ergoCentric can ensure the workstation adapts to the individual to promote well-being and productivity.

healthCentric™

healthCentric, a division of ergoCentric, specializes in designing and manufacturing ergonomic, cleanable and durable healthcare seating for clinical spaces, guest areas and administrative areas.

Partnering with customers, we actively seek real world solutions to their seating issues, working to improve comfort and safety while ensuring our products are easy to clean and disinfect.

Design Philosophy

We design our chairs based on the demands of ergonomists, occupational therapists and physiotherapists, and are focused on the well-being and productivity of the people who sit in our chairs. We never get distracted by design fads and have continuously improved the ergonomic design of our products for over 30 years. Our chairs are fully adjustable, fitting various environments, tasks, and human factors needs.
